

Unseen #6 – The Camping Trip

Hi, my name is Noam, and I love outdoor adventures. My friends, Avigail, Eli, and I decided to go on a camping trip to the Golan Heights. We were excited about hiking, campfires, and stargazing.

As we reached our camping spot, we realized we had forgotten the tent poles. Panic set in as the sun began to set. Avigail suggested using some nearby branches as makeshift poles, but Eli was skeptical.

I noticed Avigail seemed a bit down, so I decided to talk to her. She confessed that she felt responsible for forgetting the tent poles because she had packed the tent. I reassured her that it was a collective oversight and suggested we all look for a solution together.

Eli found some sturdy branches, and with Avigail's knot-tying skills, we managed to set up a makeshift tent. The night turned out to be a memorable one, filled with laughter and stories around the campfire. Our friendship grew stronger, and we learned the value of teamwork and problem-solving.
